

ABSTRACT

[0031] A braking system for a vehicle is responsive to vehicle dynamic operating conditions to provide enhanced braking when vehicle instability is detected. In one version braking force as a function of brake pedal force is increased. In another version an actuator takes up free play in a brake clamping device. The system may additionally respond to operator controls indicating possible full braking action; such as rapid release of an accelerator.

15
14
13
12
11
10
9
8
7
6
5
4
3
2
1